A SIGNIFICANT ACHIEVEMENT

BY FERDINAND M. ISSERMAN

All Jewish thinkers are convinced of the fact that the outstanding problem confronting the Jews of the world at the present time is that of Jewish education. During the ghetto-period, there was no such problem. The Jew was frozen out of the teeming world about him. Its culture did not reach him, and he devoted all his energies to the study and appreciation of his own literature. The ghetto walls not only hemmed in the Jews, but also barred from Jewish circles the spiritual products of the rest of humanity. Political emancipation shattered ghetto walls and ghetto restraints. The Jew began to participate in the secular life about him. In many instances, the old lore was forgotten for the new. In others, the demands of the secular pursuits left little leisure for the cultivation of Jewish studies.

The latter condition we have witnessed in America. The week-day Cheder, yielded to the three-day school, and now the three-day school has been supplanted by the one-day school. Dancing classes, French lessons, moving pictures, public school work have claimed the leisure of the Jewish child and the Jewish school like the poor relation was left out. That condition has existed in American Judaism too long. It has resulted in anaemic loyalties, and shocking ignorance. Without strong Jewish schools we cannot create a lasting Judaism in the Diaspora. One day a week Jewish instruction is pitifully insignificant. You cannot transmit a culture thousands of years old in two weekly periods of forty-five minutes. The future of Judaism on the American continent is dependant on the Jewish school. We can do without many of our Jewish activities, and Judaism would continue, but we cannot do without Jewish schools. The strengthening of the Jewish school becomes, therefore, our most paramount task.

Toronto Jewish leaders have realized this, and their answer to the problem has been the new Talmud Torah building—a completely equipped, modern school, with excellent classrooms, and also with recreational facilities. It is undoubtedly the finest Jewish communal building in Canada. Sessions are held daily. An excellent teaching staff has been secured, and Jewish youth are there being introduced to their literature and their ancestors. The Talmud Torah shows much promise, and bids fair to become one of the most vital Jewish institutions of the city.

But it must not be forgotten that at best the Talmud Torah can reach only a fraction of the Jewish children, that the various synagogues cannot rid themselves of their Jewish educational responsibilities because there is a fine Talmud Torah. We have always maintained that Jewish education is the function of the synagogue. It is not enough that a synagogue provide religious training for the children of its own members. The doors of every religious school should be wide open, and welcome all who apply to it for Jewish knowledge and inspiration. We hope that the time will come when

THE NEED FOR ELEMENTARY JEWISH EDUCATION

BY HERBERT J. SAMUEL

The three most important rabbinical positions that have become vacant in England in recent years have been filled by American-trained rabbis. Dr. Hertz, the Chief Rabbi of the United Synagogue, Dr. Mattuck, minister of the Liberal Jewish Synagogue, and now Rabbi Joel Blau, the newly appointed senior minister of the West London Synagogue of British Jews, were all called from American pulpits. Thus the three wings of Judaism in England, the orthodox, the reform and the conservative have American rabbis as their religious leaders. It is significant that the English community, seeking for its super-rabbis, has found them in America rather than at home.

It is plain that the hegemony of Jewish learning for English-speaking lands is passing from Europe to America, which is building up a great fostering bed of Jewish learning, culture and leadership. The United States has in recent years become well provided with institutions for higher Jewish education. But all this fine development is in danger of being left "up in the air" unless the system of elementary Jewish education for the masses is placed on a firm foundation. That this is being realized is evidenced by the greater attention that is now being paid to the larger question of general Jewish education, and the efforts that are now being made to overcome the deplorable situation in the larger American cities, where so disgracefully a large percentage of Jewish children receives no Jewish education whatever. The rabbi, the scholar-layman, the teacher and the trained worker cannot maintain a worthy standard without an understanding community in which to work. The "tinokos shel beis rabbon"—the infants in the kindergarten—are, in America as elsewhere, the vital element in the constitution of the community.

Jewish education in Montreal is dangerously inadequate. A statement was made recently, with all the semblance of veracity, that of the 13,000 Jewish children in the public schools of Montreal, the Talmud Torahs are not able to provide for more than 3,000, and, as it is, are staggering under the load, inadequately equipped and starved for lack of funds. Even if, as is not at all likely, the balance of 10,000 is taken care of in private schools and by home tuition, the fact remains that the Talmud Torahs have for years past been kept open in a continuous state of uncertainty and are again on the verge of dissolution.

The Jewish communities of Western Canada are in striking contrast to the east. The small communities in the scattered and isolated cities of the west are making great and heroic sacrifices in the cause of Jewish education, foregoing other needs for the sake of the children. The Winnipeg community is the brightest spot in the whole Dominion. There is a larger percentage of Jewish children in receipt of a Jewish education in Winnipeg than in any other city on

Federation of Jewish Philanthropies $50,000 Deficit Campaign

Sol Kellert was the head of a committee which raised $50,000 to clear the Federation deficit. Get-together lunches were held at the Montefiore Club daily. 120 people were present at a dinner Tuesday, December 22, at the Montefiore Club as the guests of Sol Kellert and committee. Rabbi Herbert J. Samuel, associate editor of the CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW, gave the opening prayer. Rabbi H. Abramowitz toasted the King. Michael Hirsch was toastmaster. David Kirsch spoke on "The Financial Position of Federation." A. H. Jassby spoke on "The Three Phases of Federation's Work: Prevention, Follow-Up and After-Care." A. Z. Cohen spoke on "What the Social Agencies of Federation Are Doing." Sol Kellert read a list of contributors. It was shown that the committee was still short of $15,000 to make the $50,000 objective. Edgar M. Berliner spoke on "Federation and Prevention Work." He presented Sol Kellert with a set of golf sticks and leather golf bag bearing an inscription on a gold plate. Lyon Cohen spoke.

When the final amount of $52,000 was reached, Isaac Friedman announced an additional $10,000 from Sir Mortimer Davis making a total of $62,000. Al Lesser, president of Federation, received this report from Charles L. Friedman.

CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW.

In your last issue I saw a heading in your worthy paper, "Kronick Heads Ort in Canada." I do not know of any election or any such honour given to me. As much as I favour the work done by the Ort in Europe, I have never accepted the position. Any time I can spare I must devote to communal affairs, particularly Zionist affairs.

Please publish this statement.

Thanking you in advance,

S. KRONICK.

The Editor,
Canadian Jewish Review,
Montreal, Que.

Dear Sir:

Permit me through your paper to openly express my thanks and satisfaction to the Holland-America Line for their wonderful service both on land and at sea, which they extended to my brother, who recently was a passenger on their steamer from Russia to Montreal. I have secured full particulars from my brother, and he stated that their third-class accommodation is most comfortable and spotlessly clean. Their food is prepared in clean kitchens, catering to all nationalities, and was deliciously served. On the whole, he felt it his duty to comment on the Holland-America line.

I wish to state that I personally called on their local manager, Mr. Vaz, and complimented his company, and he showed me cuts of the third-class accommodations of their large steamers which coincide identically with the report of my brother.

Mr. Vaz stated that the Holland-America Line in Canada will continue to do their best to give satisfaction to the Jewish community, and nothing is left undone to satisfy everyone.

Yours very truly,
Bernard Zarachor.

The hundred and twenty-five per cent patriots across the border are after the aliens again under the usual guise of giving the aliens what is good for them. Represented by the Allied Patriotic Societies, these patriots recently showed their good citizenship by proposing that foreign-language newspapers be forced to print articles in English on the constitution and history of the United States. They want mailing privileges denied to such papers as refuse to print in each issue a half-column of patriotic material. In recommending this, the president of the Societies says that 2,000 foreign-language papers "attack our government under cover. Their influence is insidious."

If the truth of this could be established, the patriots would be doing their country a service, but, since there is no proof available, their action is simply that of an assembly of over-zealous boors. Their gratuitous effort, if carried to success, would make the government a paternalistic watch-dog over the papers, and place the papers under constant suspicion. That the papers do not deserve this insulting attention goes without saying. They are recognized as valuable Americanizing agencies and educational factors in the life of recent immigrants. Their editorials, especially the Yiddish ones, are shown by Dr. Mordecai Soltes in "The Yiddish Press," to deal with American subjects, holidays, institutions, politics, etc., more than with any other subjects.

If the allied patriotic societies were really concerned with the influence for good citizenship that knowledge of the constitution inculcates they would reveal it in daily doses to all the people without seeming to show favouritism to foreigners. Must the alien be better informed than the native? All that is required of the natives in demonstration of patriotism is shouting, badgering aliens, lynching and imperialistic talk. But the aliens must know the constitution, the country's history and be offered up to all the theories on how to make good citizens out of unwanted raw material. If the natives don't watch out, their constitution and patriotic hymns are going to pass out of their keeping into the hands of the night-school Americans who were born some place else. Perhaps the allied patriotic societies go on the assumption that the natives don't know their history, songs and constitution, and never will, and since some one ought to, the aliens should be the goats as usual.

A remarkable dinner was given in New York City recently, remarkable because no speeches were allowed. The dinner was given by 900 people in honour of one Manny Strauss, for the work he has done in connection with the Business Men's Council, the Fourth Liberty Loan, the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies and other undertakings, during the ten years he has been in New York. It is Mr. Strauss's way to go quietly to organizations launching new movements, give them the benefit of his unfailing judgment and gift for leadership, unpaid, and at sacrifice of his own time and energy, and then withdraw, having shown them how they could achieve their purpose. He never makes speeches and never has made a speech.

Those present at the dinner testified to Mr. Strauss's unselfishness, his desire to work outside the spotlight, minus titles and honours; to the value of his ideas and to his outstanding executive ability. But all the testimonials were given away from the banquet table and out of the hearing of the honour guest, and he agreed to be present only on condition that no speeches would be made.

Most of the people privileged to pay tribute to such a modest person are among the most prominent Jews and non-Jews in New York. They have to eat and listen in the interest of many causes. What a change it must have been for them just to eat unmolested! No bromides, no truisms, no endless repetitions, no pompous, wearisome, personal histories, no trite, worn-out wise cracks, no first-rate business successes being fiftieth-rate after-dinner orators, no people with absolutely nothing new or interesting to say trying to demolish a half-hour because the programme allowed them five minutes!

The whole story of the Jewish people in America, at least, will never be chronicled properly, nor their power of endurance paid sufficient admiration, nor their ability to take punishment adequately recorded until there has been taken into account the hundreds of thousands of dinners at which they have sat and listened. Some day when medals are being struck let one be set aside for the un-named heroes who wanted to get up from the table and scream out in protest but who restrained themselves by force of will.

New York sets the styles for this continent in many ways. Having started the idea of hot-air-fests in the first place, it owes it to the hinterland of Torontos, Montreals, St. Johns and Vancouvers to change the mode. Don't let the good work stop with the Strauss dinner. Strauss is a man to inspire a new era in banquet-giving. Let the dinner to him be what the social column calls only the first of a series.

Long Distance brings far-away friends to you

No doubt there are many of your friends, in whose homes there are telephones, who only occasionally correspond with you.

Do you ever consider telephoning any of them?

By using Station-to-Station service (that is, where you ask for anyone at the distant telephone) you can take advantage of the low evening and night rates applying on this type of call, which make this method of keeping in touch with friends very attractive.

A few minutes' intimate talk by telephone is worth more than a whole series of letters. It is a two-way communication that enables you to deliver your message, answer questions and get a reply all in a few minutes.

A Suggestion Regarding Dr. Zitlowsky's Jubilee

From the Yiddish by David Pinsky

The whole Jewish world is preparing at present to celebrate the jubilee of Dr. Chaim Zitlowsky at the occasion of his sixtieth birthday. Allow me a suggestion to those who are truly interested in this and wish to honour the great Jewish leader.

Dr. Zitlowsky's sixty years were spent in untiring activity, enlightening and directing the Jewish masses and intelligenstia by word and action. He began his work among the Jewish working classes at a time when they were permeated with the ides of internationalism, and, therefore, assimilation for the Jew. But he soon became convinced that where there was a Jewish working class there must be a conscious JEWISH worker; that Socialism and Nationalism were not opposites; and that the Jewish nation was not a part, a proportion of another nation—but an entity; a one hundred per cent. entity of itself. In these ideas, now so universally accepted—he was a pioneer; and to the propaga, tion of these views he devoted his lifetime.

In 1885, though only twenty years old, he begins by founding the organization "St'l Nolis" (Israel's Help), with the purpose of conducting propaganda among the Jewish masses in the Jewish language. Two years later he publishes his "Views on the Historical Fate of the Jews," followed closely by the famous pamphlet, "A Jew to Jews" (1892). And so continuously for forty years he remained with the light of those ideas before his eyes, unwavering, firm and proud with the consciousness of an absolute truth. And if, at the outset of his active life he had few followers, the number of his disciples has grown with the years; AND IT IS DUE IN A GREAT MEASURE TO HIM THAT THE JEWISH NATIONAL CONSCIOUSNESS WAS AWAKENED among the big bulk of Jewish labouring masses.

The announcement that the great teacher has reached his sixtieth birthday, therefore, aroused the greatest enthusiasm in all circles of Jewish life; and it will most certainly strengthen the heart and hands of the untiring leader to see the love and appreciation awarded him. But we must not content ourselves by mere expressions of appreciation. During the forty years of his public activities, tumultuous and tiring, Dr. Zitlowsky could not insure for himself the quiet and comfort due him after a life of action. In his public spirit he neglected himself. Zitlowsky, the individual, and the writings of Zitlowsky, the scientist and thinker, remain scattered throughout newspapers and magazines.

Is it not fitting for us, therefore, that at this moment of celebration, in our desire to express our great love and appreciation, we should provide for him the means by which he may be able comfortably to complete his work? And his work comprises unlimited fields of interest, such as:

"The Philosophy of Jewish History."
"The Struggle of National Culture against Assimilation."
"Nationalism and Socialism."
"Nationalism in the Diaspora," etc., etc., etc.

I do not name a definite sum. I leave that to the enthusiasm and good will of Dr. Zitlowsky's host of admirers. But I am certain that my suggestion will be enthusiastically accepted by all, and I hope that this gift of the people will exceed even my fondest imagination.

every synagogue will boast of a building like the Talmud Torah. We congratulate the officers of Talmud Torah, particularly Rabbi Gordon, who first dreamed of it, for their significant achievement. We know that the new Jewish school will mean much to the community of Toronto, and trust that it will inspire some of our Canadian Jews to provide as adequately for the religious training of their own children as the Talmud Torah leaders have done.

WHAT SOME JEWS HAVE THOUGHT AND SAID ABOUT JESUS

(1) Dr. Joseph Klausner, a member of the faculty of the Hebrew University, in his book about "Jesus of Nazareth," the book which Dr. Wise reviewed in his widely discussed sermon (p. 414):

"But in his (Jesus') ethical code there is a sublimity, distinctiveness and originality in form unparalleled in any other Hebrew ethical code; neither is there any parallel to the remarkable art of his parables. The shrewdness and sharpness of his proverbs and his forceful epigrams serve, in an exceptional degree, to make ethical ideas a popular possession. If ever the day should come and this ethical code be stripped of its wrappings of miracles and mysticism, the Book of the Ethics of Jesus will be one of the choicest treasures in the literature of Israel for all time."

We heartily recommend this book to our readers, especially to those who are not acquainted with the life of the great Jew, about whose personality and teachings Christianity builded itself.

(2) The late Dr. Emil G. Hirsh, rabbi of Sinai Congregation of Chicago, and one of the outstanding rabbinical intellects America has produced. In a book of his sermons, entitled "My Religion," the following paragraphs are found:

"We Jews never rejected Jesus, we have no cause to reject him. If he taught what we learn he did teach, according to the Gospels, if he lived the life which he is supposed to have lived, with certain reservations, we can claim him as flesh of our flesh, and bone of our bone—as spirit of our spirit."

"He was a Jew, if ever there was a Jew, and a loyal Jew in every respect, and his life thoroughly Jewish. It is melody by the deepest, sweetest notes of the Jewish universal music that we admit, and are glad to admit, for it corresponds to the truth, and, as I said before, I am not the one who has invented this."

"I have had my predecessors. Two among my teachers have not hesitated to say as much and to say it as plainly and probably to say it much better than you have just heard me say it. The one was my own father of sainted memory and the other was Abraham Geiger, the teacher at whose feet I, an unworthy pupil, had the privilege of sitting for many a year. This Abraham Geiger, too, wrote about Jesus and virtually came to the same conclusion, though he added what I shall add now, that Jesus is so thoroughly Jewish that you are at a loss to find originality in him.

"There is not a single original element in his teachings or in his method of teaching. We who are at home in Jewish literature, in Talmudic disquisitions and disputations, know that in no respect did he rise beyond the highest altitude of Talmudic vision and conviction. There is no originality in the teaching of Jesus, there is not a single new note that he struck which had been silent before in true Israel. Much of what he taught was anticipated by the prophets of old and other things that he laid down and which our neighbours claim are new to us and are utterly foreign to us are echoes of Jewish principles and are but new statements of old Jewish viewpoints.

"There is not a single new maxim, not a single new principle. There is not a single new trait of ethical consecration in the teachings, as we have them, of the great Master Jesus, the ideal, the typical Jew of his time" (p. 34).

"Jesus was merely a teacher of our Judaism, the universal Judaism. His maxims are echoes of the principles of the synagogue. His hopes none other but the hope that the Judaism of the Synagogue always will be cherished. He dreamt of a united humanity, but the same dream was the ecstatic forevision of our great prophets, was the hope that sustained and the power that maintained the Jew under all his trials and triumphs to be true to himself, true to the God of all humanity, true to the ideal of universal peace" (p. 163).

(3) Dr. Hyman G. Enelow, associate rabbi of Temple Emanu-El of New York City, in a book on a "Jewish View of Jesus," which was published in 1920:

"Jesus was not only born a Jew, but conscious of his Jewish descent.

"Jesus realized the spiritual distinction of the Jewish people, and regarded himself as sent to teach and help his people.

"Jesus, like other teachers, severely criticized his people for their spiritual shortcomings, seeking to correct them, but at the same time he loved and pitied them. His whole ministry was saturated with love for his people and loyalty to it.

"Jesus, like all other of the noblest type of Jewish teachers, taught the essential lessons of spiritual religion—love, justice, goodness, purity, holiness—subordinating the material and the political to the spiritual and the eternal" (p. 58).

"Among the great and the good that the human race has produced, none has even approached Jesus in universality of appeal and sway. He has become the most fascinating figure in history. In him is combined what is best and most mysterious and most enchanting in Israel—the eternal people whose child he was. The Jew cannot help glorying in what Jesus thus has meant to the world; nor can he help hoping that Jesus may yet serve as a bond of union between Jew and Christian, once his teaching is better known and the bars of misunderstanding at last is removed from his words and his ideal" (p. 181).

NORTHERN ONTARIO CANADA

Northern Ontario, now open for settlement in 160-acre blocks at fifty cents per acre, contains millions of acres of the finest agricultural land in the world. Its resources in lumber, mineral, water power, fish, game and scenery, are immense. The land calls for men to cultivate it, and in return will give health, comfort and prosperity.

What settlers say of the soil, climate farming and forest life, is told in a most attractive booklet issued under the direction of the Honourable John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario. Full instructions in regards to acquiring a title to these rich agricultural lands are also given.

the continent. Winnipeg has two large and completely furnished buildings, with four or five additional branches, adequately staffed with efficient and well-paid teachers. The whole is operated by the Talmud Torah, which has also a high school department, able to train its own teachers. Winnipeg is thus producing a generation of educated Jews, and one of the immediate results is to be seen in the growing number of Jewish students who are taking the Hebrew courses at the University, and creating the demand for a larger department there. One would like to mention with due credit the names of all those right-hearted Jewish citizens, whose enthusiasm and devotion have made this possible, but it will be agreed by all concerned that the palm goes without challenge to the veteran H. L. Waidman, who has devoted his life to the cause of Jewish education, and has never allowed the growing claims of a large business to interfere with the hours he gives daily to the Talmud Torah. He is an orthodox Jew, with a vision, who has concerned himself primarily with providing a Hebrew education, never questioning the religious views of the teacher, or his observances, so long as he was efficient and regular at his work, and showing tolerance to those holding less strict views than himself, provided they showed a regard for the Hebrew language and a respect for Jewish history. Thus the Talmud Torah in Winnipeg belongs to the whole community, and not to a section of it.

The remarkable achievement of the so-called national schools also merits notice. In Winnipeg there is a large circle devoted to Jewish culture, mainly in Yiddish, though not neglecting Hebrew. The Yiddish nationalists are not orthodox in practice or thought, but nowhere can be found a more intelligent and enthusiastic audience than that which crowds in large numbers to hear the constant stream of Jewish lecturers who are invited to Winnipeg for the purpose. Winnipeg rightly merits the reputation it has as a cultured Jewish community.

What is wrong with Montreal? As the largest Jewish community in Canada, it cannot claim to be culturally the highest. Why are the Talmud Torahs not supported and encouraged? Why are not greater efforts made for Jewish education? These are not questions of orthodoxy or reform, for the growing up of a large mass of Jews without knowledge of their religion, or of their past, and without respect for their good name, is a menace to the whole community. In a community whose numbers are estimated at anywhere from 10,000 to 15,000 families, of whom not more than 200 families are reformed, it may well be asked by anyone why Jewish education in Montreal is in so deplorably neglected a condition. The recent campaign to cover the $50,000 deficit of the Jewish Federation of Philanthropies, resulted in a most remarkable demonstration of goodness of heart, men vying with one another in the invention of ingenious excuses for giving a little more, and still a little more. The splendid spirit of Jewish charity is active in Montreal. Why, then, have the Talmud Torahs not been able to obtain proper support?

England has looked to America for its gifted scholar-preachers, because elementary Jewish education has been carefully nurtured at the expense of higher education. English Judaism is therefore strong. Over here we have higher education well endowed, without the background of elementary education. This is a danger that must be avoided before it is too late.

MARRIAGES

Epstein—Levy

At the home of Mrs. S. Lyons, 57 Preston Boulevard the wedding took place of Ruth L., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Levy, and Louis Epstein, of Ottawa. The house was arranged with roses and smilax throughout and the ceremony was performed under a canopy of white satin, decked with flowers. Rabbi J. Berger, of Montreal, officiated, assisted by Rabbi Iser Freund. The bride wore white satin, trimmed with fine Venetian lace. Her veil, trimmed with seed pearls, was held in place by a coronet of pearls and orange blossoms and she wore white stockings and white slippers, ornamented with diamond buckles. Her flowers, lilies-of-the-valley and orchids, were arranged in a quaint muff bouquet. She was attended by her niece, Miss Nita Lyons, as maid of honour, and two bridesmaids, Miss Sybil Epstein, of this city, niece of the groom, and Miss Ruth Goldberg, of Buffalo, cousin of the bride. The attendants were gowned alike, in frocks of orchid and gold tissue, fashioned with long lines, tight bodices and short flared skirts. Their slippers and stockings were silver, and they wore bandeaux of silver and carried bouquets of maidenhair fern and Sweetheart roses. Archie J. Freiman, of Ottawa, cousin of the groom, was best man. Mrs. Isaac Levy, mother of the bride, wore a French gown of black satin, black hat with goose feather trimming and corsage bouquet of roses. EMPIRE

Charles (Slim) Timblin and Miss Val Russell, who under the name of "Slim" and Val, do a novel vaudeville act in "Talk of the Town" at the Empire Theatre, week of January 11, have been inventing novel acts in musical tabloids for several seasons. While new to Columbia Burlesque they have established themselves as favourites in the Middle West. Mr. Timblin is an eccentric comedian and dancer while Miss Russell plays ingenue and character roles. Timblin turns to burnt cork for his comedy disguise and centres interest on the "stump speech" styles of entertaining. In this his material is declared to be the wittiest routine of chatter heard in public since the late Cliff Gordon, in German dialect was wont to keep the brains of his audiences skipping on "high" to keep up with his flashes of wit.

SHEA'S

A bill of all-star features has been booked at Shea's next week, with headline honours shared by Signor Friscoe and his Guatemalan ensemble and Edith Clifford, singing comedienne. Signor Friscoe placed the xiyophone on a high plane of entertainement value.

Edith Clifford is one of the best-looking blondes on the American stage. She has splendid material that has been prepared for her by Roy Ingraham and Bryan Foy. Mabel Leonard assists Miss Clifford at the piano.

"Let's Dance" is the title of a terpsichorean treat and an invitation that is accepted by the McGushion Twins, Eddie Franklyn, Dubow and Ross and Chic Stanley. These six players constitute a dancing sextette.

Marguerita Padula is a pianist distinctive, assisted by Monroe Purcell.

Johnny Murphy has a unique act called "Timely Topics Tunefully Told," which is the last word in witticism. Richard de Mar and Lillian Lester are a clever team presenting a dancing and singing sketch called "A Dip into Vaudeville." "In and Around Moncton," a Canada-in-Pictures travelogue, and an Aesop Fable complete the programme.

Confidence--the Keynote of Success

The knowledge that one is properly dressed creates that confidence which characterizes a successful man.

Collars that feel like a caress. The Van-Dusen and semi-soft made to rival the best starched collar.

Shirts that fit correctly. No bulging at neck or bosom. Cuffs turned evenly, and when necessary taken off and reversed.

Socks and Woollens with that soft, velvety feeling so much desired and only possible when a soap like "Ivory" is used.

Repairs— Every article the man wears kept in first-class condition, not merely "mending free."
